

POSITIONS AVAILABLE:
LABORATORY TECHNICIANS

Duration: May through August 2009, Mondays to Fridays 9:00 am- 5:00 pm
Location: University of Waterloo, Anthropology Department laboratory (PAS)

Position requirements:

Archaeological Services Inc. (ASI) is a leading provider of archaeological consulting services in the Province of Ontario. We are looking for highly motivated individuals to conduct lab processing of artifact collections.

Duties:

Job duties entail washing and processing artifacts from a mid-19th century Euro-Canadian site excavated in 2008. Training will be provided on laboratory and conservation techniques and historic period material culture from southern Ontario.

Requirements:

Applicants must be thorough, meticulous, dependable, and detail oriented. In addition, they must be highly organized and able to develop and maintain effective interpersonal relationships with others in a laboratory setting. Previous experience working within a laboratory setting would be an asset, but is not necessary.

Qualifications:

Applicants should be working towards a degree in Anthropology/Archaeology and be available for the entire summer work period, as detailed above.

Remuneration

To be determined.
